You're winning projects. So where's the profit going?

The work keeps growing. So do the hours.

Extra revisions. More meetings.
Deadlines that take longer to hit.

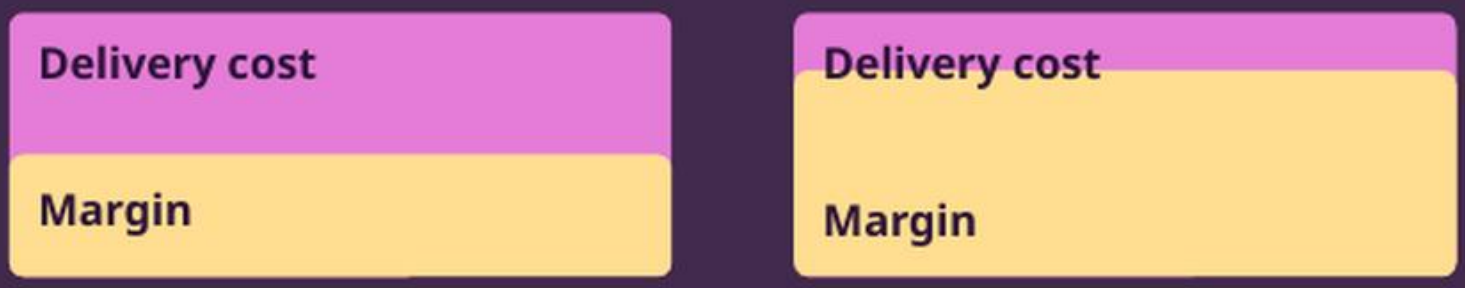

Every unplanned hour adds to the cost of delivering a project.

Revenue can look healthy while margins shrink.

When projects take more time than expected, the extra effort eats into what you earn.

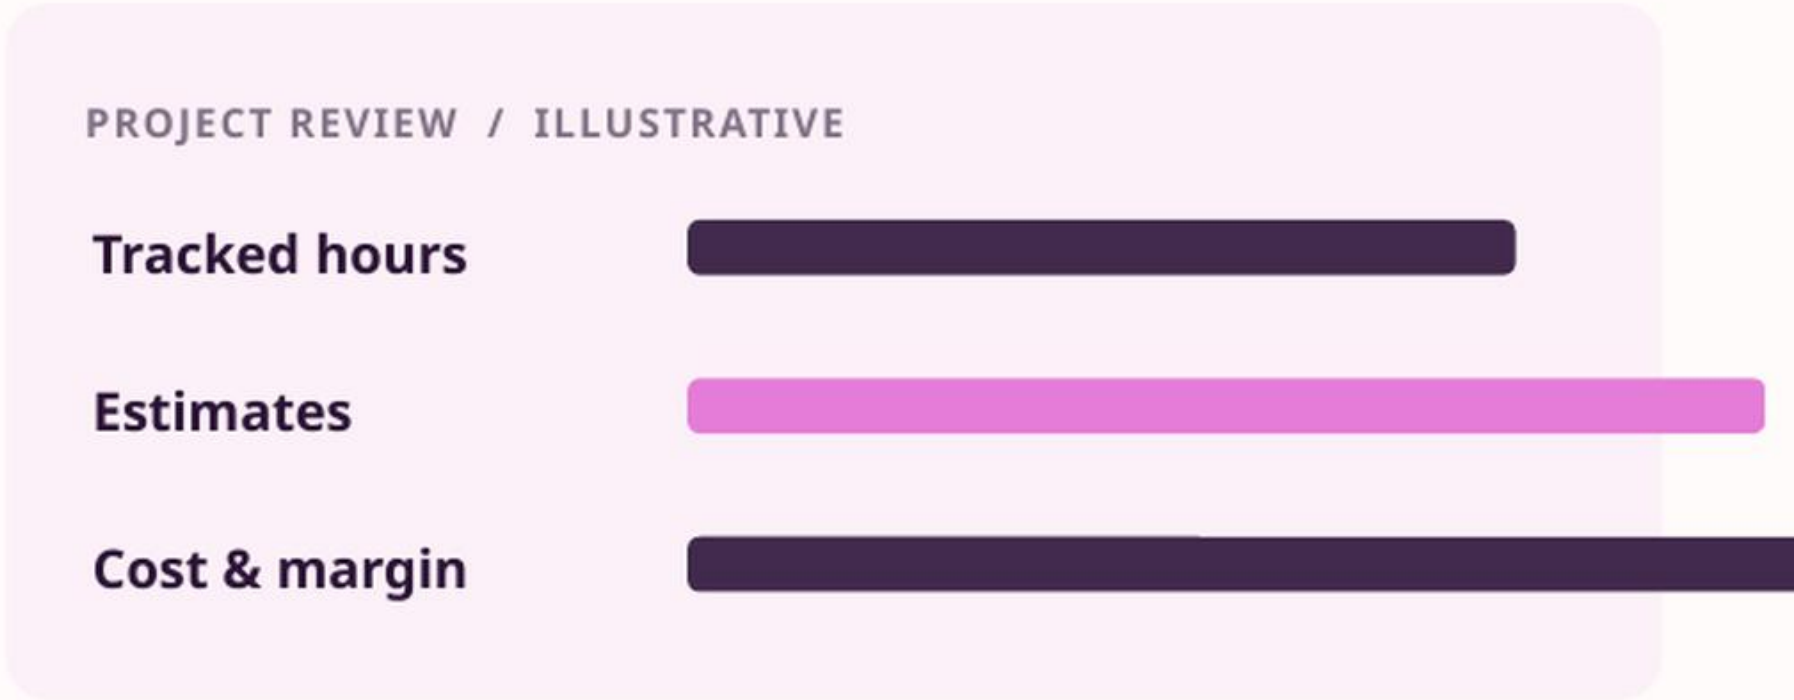

SAME REVENUE. DIFFERENT OUTCOME.

Illustrative proportions — not actual product data

Know which projects are actually profitable.

Your time data can show where the hours go, where estimates fall short and where margins are being lost.

Start looking beyond revenue.